In the Fog.

London, January 9.—The channel was badly fogged all day. The steamer Paris lost three blades of her screw yesterday, and was towed from Calais to Dover. She broke the screw while entering Calais harbor, presumably by striking wreckage.

Many skates broke through the rotten ice on the banks in London, but nobody was drowned. Deaths from exposure, boiler explosions and so on, continue to be reported from all parts of Great Britain.

The British steamer Esk, bound from Shields to London with coal, collided off Lowestoft last night during the fog with the Spanish steamer Musques, ore laden, and bound from Balboa for Middlesborough. The Spanish steamer sank stern first in a few minutes. Twenty-two of the crew were rescued by the Esk, but two were drowned. The Esk was badly damaged.

Mysterious Murder.

Lyons, January 9.—The body of an unknown man was found on the rails last evening between St. Gothard and Balvigny. The man had evidently been a passenger on the train. The body showed unmistakable evidence that the man had been murdered and the body thrown from the train.

The Mid-Winter Appeal.

Yesterday the first issue of the first newspaper published at the Exposition made its appearance. It is the representative sheet of the Forty-nine Mining Camp, and tells of the men and times in the early history of the State when all were single in the search for gold. It pictures scenes which still live in the memory of pioneers, and have a place in the minds of those who have heard of the daring spirits who flocked to the Californian mines. It deals in a startling and recklessly frank manner with men who, years ago, were unknown and poor, but who to-day are rich and powerful from their success in the mines. Its originality will make it popular.—Chronicle.

The Examiner says: Sam Davis got out the first edition of his Midwinter Appeal, published at the '49 Mining Camp.

"We understand," he remarked in one of his camp notes, "that Big Jake of Butte City will open a keno game near the Appeal office in a few days. If he don't move further down the street we will be compelled to open on the iniquities of these resorts with our moral batteries and ruin his business."

"Experience has taught us that it is impossible to run a newspaper office alongside a keno resort and get the sheet out the same week it is dated. Big Jake had better call at the office and make some inquiries regarding our advertising rates before he opens up."

All The Difference in the World.

The great hue and cry raised by the Ormsby County Silver party last year was because Charley Bray being a county commissioner, did work for the county. It was made the principal issue of the election and all the third party men vowed they would never, never be guilty of such a deed. But that was before the election. Trustee Oleovich, appointed by the silver party county superintendent, has forgotten this and has sent in a bill to School District, No. 1, for seventeen yards of curtaining, one roll of tape, and tacks and thread.

"Consistency thou art a jewel."

The above appeared in the News this morning.

In explanation, I will state that the articles mentioned were purchased at our store during my absence and when informed of it, I protested to the Janitor; told him that he had no right to purchase goods of me for the School District, and should have demanded the return of same, if the goods had not already been cut to pieces. I told the Janitor that he was responsible for the bill and it was put in to save him from loss, as he would have to pay the bill, if refused payment.

The Silver Party and its officers know the law and strictly abide by it. They intend to look after the welfare of the county and are there to stay and see to it that the law shall be strictly enforced.

HYMAN OLEOVICH.

The Rat Settled It.

A Michigan paper publishes the following, which will be read with interest by local secret society men:

A woman in Bay City, Michigan, disguised herself as a man and clerked in a store for a year, and then applied for membership in the Knights of Pythias and was initiated. During the work of the third rank her sex was discovered. It seems that in the third rank they have an india rubber rat and celluloid snake, which is run by clock work inside, and which seems very natural indeed. The idea is to let them run at the candidate to see if he will flinch.

When the snake ran at the girl she kept her nerve all right, but when the rat tried to run up her trousers legs she grabbed imaginary skirts in both hands and jumped into a refrigerator that was standing near (which is used in the work of the fourth degree,) and screamed bloody murder. The girl is a member of the lodge and there is no help for it. This may open the eyes of members of secret societies and cause them to investigate. One lodge here, we understand, takes precautions against the admission of a woman by carefully examining the feet of an applicant. If the feet are cold enough to freeze ice cream then the candidate is blackballed.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea, 25 cents a bottle.

The accidental disappearance of the wheel of a cart in the streets at Polson led to the discovery that the town has been undermined in places by the Chinese, who have been working a large body of auriferous ground known to be there, but which the railroad would not permit to be mined as it was mainly under its property.

The Bay Tragedy.

It now turns out that the man shot by Mrs. Shattuck was Harry Pool, the affianced husband of Miss Shattuck. Miss Shattuck bore a good reputation and it is believed that her mother was worked up on some fancied wrong, and that her mind was unbalanced at the time she committed the deed, she made her daughter write Pool a letter asking him to come to the house as her mother was dying. The young man was sitting on the woman's bed when shot.
